

that really want to hear and understand cannot because of the noise on the floor. Could we keep the din down just a bit for Senator Warner and your benefit? Thank you.

SENATOR WARNER: Thank you, Mr. President. The next one deals with the Department of Water Resources which is nothing but personal services limitations. The next one is Department of Military Affairs where there is an increase in general fund money of $200,000 for the Governor's emergency fund. We appropriated $300,000 last year. They were down to something less than $17,000 in that fund a few days ago or a few weeks ago and an additional $200,000 appropriated there to cover any possible emergency through July 1 and that amount will be reappropriated, that is, the unused balance will be reappropriated for next year. The next agency is the Board of Educational Lands and Funds. Again, they did not have a personal service expenditure. The new language includes that so that DAS can properly administer it. The same is true of the new language in the middle of page 39. Now starting on page 40, the bottom, Game and Parks, all of their adjustments are adjustments in personal services limitation with the exception on page 41, line 17, there is an additional $5,000 approved for the purchase of a portable trailer stage which the agency uses in a variety of programs that they present such as at the county fairs, state fairs and other appropriate areas. Nebraska Liquor Commission, on page 42, there is an adjustment here in personal service limitation and a transfer of funds from one program to another program but no increase in general fund appropriations. Page 44, the Department of Correctional Services, the only adjustments here is personal service adjustments appearing on page 47. Next, we go to page 54, Nebraska State Historical Society, these are all adjustments in personal services limitations with an exception of an increase of $5,000 appearing on page 54, line 19, in one of their cash funds and this is a fund where they do archeological contracts with a variety of agencies but the most common would be with the Department of Roads. There are funds in the Department of Roads, for example, if in construction some archeological find is uncovered that the Department contracts with the Historical Society to inspect those sites to see if there is anything of historical significance that should be retained during the process of road construction. The next one, on page 56 is the Natural Resource Commission. Again, this is nothing but adjustment in personal services limitations. The next agency, page 59, Department of Administrative Services, there is an increase here of approximately $60,000 - $70,000 in general fund money which reflects the purchase of a video center, film processor and a magnetic tape. This was an expenditure that was made in cooperation with the Executive Board and other state agencies for some additional printing equipment which is utilized by the Legislature as well as other departments. The rest of the changes are adjustments in personal services. The next change is on page 63 dealing with the Equal Opportunity Commission. There is a $20,000 increase here in general fund appropriation to pay for cost for additional hearings that they have trying to process some of the cases dealing with equal employment and the additional $20,000 is limited, if you look at the language, in the middle of page 63, is limited to the use of those public hearings and primarily we go to court reporters and the associated cost of that.
